

National Intelligence Community & National Security College Scholarship for Women

This scholarship is designed to foster the talent of Australian women with diverse backgrounds and skill-sets who are interested in national security. This is a great opportunity for women who may otherwise not have the chance to complete a Master degree at the ANU National Security College.

Eligibility

Open to Australian women who have received an offer to study the Master of National Security Policy and who are not members of the Australian Public Service.

Value

Up to $50,280

100% tuition fee up to 72 units

Several scholarships available in the mid-year intake

How to apply

As well as applying for admission to the Master of National Security Policy, applicants must:

- complete the short online application
- attach a statement of aims (no more than one page)
- attach a current CV (no more than three pages)
- provide two (2) written academic references

Read the full eligibility criteria and application instructions: <https://www.anu.edu.au/study/scholarships/find-a-scholarship/national-intelligence-community-and-national-security-college>

Application period

Applications for the 2023 mid-year intake are open now and close on Wednesday 31 May.

Further information

T : +61 2 6125 6261

E : crawford.degrees@anu.edu.au

W : nsc.crawford.anu.edu.au